

Brownie & her burrow

Many years back, in the deciduous forest, there lived a chipmunk named Brownie. She lived in a burrow underground with her daughter Kaya.

Whining, Brownie exclaimed "This burrow is way TO SMALL!," lets go to Kallie the squid for help." As they went through the deciduous forest, they saw the sugar glider Karina's home & how big it was compared to theirs.

They also saw Ally the cardinal's home and it was so big it could fit a whole family of butterflies. Soon enough they arrived at Kallie the Squid's home and Brownie spilled the the beans. "My burrow is way

TO SMALL!" Brownie exclaimed. "I see" Kallie said "I have a plan, bring in some termites, cockroaches, ants & beetles it will make your burrow seem bigger." Brownie thought it was a weird idea but she did it anyway. "My burrow is even smaller than before!" Brownie shouted.

"I am going to talk to Kallie about this mess". Finally squeezing through all of those bugs, she headed back to Kallie to tell her what she had done to her burrow. "My burrow is even smaller than before!" Brawnie exclaimed. "I'll fix that up" Kallie said. "Take out the termites, cockroaches, ants, & beetles" said Kallie. "But you just told me to put them in!" Brawnie said. "Do what I say." Kallie boomed. "Fine, I'll do it" Brawnie said with a sigh. As soon as she got back to her burrow, Brawnie dumped out all of the ants, cockroaches, beetles & termites. "My burrow is really big now" Brawnie exclaimed "I love my big burrow" Brawnie said as she went to sleep. Now Brawnie is realizing that she should be thankful for what she already has.
